RIGHTS OF CRIME VICTIMS

The Code of Criminal Procedure, Chapter 56.02 ensures the right of victims of sexual assault, kidnapping, aggravated robbery, trafficking of persons, or injury to a child, elderly individual, or disabled individual or who has suffered personal injury or death as a result of the criminal conduct of another; to the guardian of a victim; and to the close relative of a deceased victim. The rights of victims as specified in the law are summarized below. The full text is available at www.statutes.legis.state.tx.us

1) The right to receive adequate protection from law enforcement agencies from harm and threats of harm arising from a victim's cooperation with the prosecution efforts.

2) The right to have magistrates take the safety of the victim or his/her family into consideration as an element in fixing the amount of bail for the accused.

3) The right, if requested, to be informed of relevant court proceedings and to be informed if those court proceedings have been canceled or rescheduled prior to the event.

4) The right to be informed, when requested, by a peace officer concerning the defendant's right to bail and the procedures in criminal investigations; and by the district attorney's office concerning the general procedures in the criminal justice system, including general procedures in guilty plea negotiations.

5) The right to provide pertinent information to a probation department conducting a presentencing investigation concerning the impact of the offense on the victim and his/her family prior to any sentencing of the offender. Victim information may be provided by testimony, written statement, or any other manner.

6) The right to receive information regarding compensation to victims of crime as provided by Subchapter B of chapter 56. Such information includes the costs that may be compensated and the amount of compensation; eligibility for compensation; procedures for application for compensation; the payment for medical examination for a victim of a sexual assault; and referral information to social services agencies that may offer additional assistance, when requested.

7) The right to be informed, upon request, of parole procedures; to participate in the parole process; and to be notified, upon request, of parole proceedings concerning a defendant in the victim's case. Victims also have the right to provide information, to be included in the defendant's file, to the Board of Pardons and Paroles, to be considered by the board prior to the parole of any defendant convicted of any crime subject to this Act. When requested, victims will be notified of the defendant's release.

8) The right to be provided with a waiting area separate or secure from other witnesses, including the offender and the relatives of the offender, before testifying in any proceeding concerning the offender. If a separate waiting area is not available, other safeguards should be taken to minimize the victim's contact with the offender and the offender's relatives and witnesses, before and during court proceedings.

9) The right to prompt return of any property of the victim that is held as evidence by a law enforcement agency or by the attorney for the state when the property is no longer required for that purpose.

10) The right to have the attorney for the state notify the employer of the victim, if requested, of the necessity of the victim's cooperation and testimony in a proceeding that may necessitate the absence of the victim from work for good cause.

11) The right to request victim-offender mediation coordinated by the victim services division of the Texas Dept. of Criminal Justice.

12) The right to be informed of the uses of a victim impact statement, the statement's purpose in the criminal justice system, and the right to complete the victim impact statement and to have the victim impact statement considered by the appropriate entities in the criminal justice system. A victim who provides a victim impact statement has the right to have that statement considered before sentencing or acceptance of a plea agreement and by the Board of pardons and Paroles before an inmate is released on parole.

13) For a victim of an assault or sexual assault who is younger than 17 years of age or whose case involves family violence, as defined by Section 71.004, Family Code, the right to have the court consider the impact on the victim of a continuance requested by the defendant; if requested by the attorney representing the state or by counsel for the defendant, the court shall state on the record the reason for granting or denying the continuance.

14) If the offense is a capital felony, the right to:

A) receive by mail from the court a written explanation of defense-initiated victim outreach if the court has authorized expenditures for a defense-initiated victim outreach specialist;

B) not be contacted by the victim outreach specialist unless the victim, guardian, or relative has consented to the contact by providing a written notice to the court; and

C) designate a victim service provider to receive all communications from a victim outreach specialist acting on behalf of any person.

(b) A victim, guardian of a victim, or close relative of a deceased victim is entitled to the right to be present at all public court proceedings related to the offense, subject to the approval of the judge in the case.

(c) The office of the attorney representing the state, and the sheriff, police, and other law enforcement agencies shall ensure to the extent practicable that a victim, guardian of a victim, or close relative of a deceased victim is afforded the rights granted by this article and Article 56.021 and, on request, an explanation of those rights.

(d) A judge, attorney for the state, peace officer, or law enforcement agency is not liable for a failure or inability to provide a right enumerated in this article or Article 56.021. The failure or inability of any person to provide a right or service enumerated in this article or Article 56.021 may not be used by a defendant in a criminal case as a ground for appeal, a ground to set aside the conviction or sentence, or a ground in a habeas corpus petition. A victim, guardian of a victim, or close relative of a deceased victim does not have standing to participate as a party in a criminal proceeding or to contest the disposition of any charge.
