

METALS GLOSSARY

1. Statutory Agent – The person or entity to whom any legal notice may be delivered at each location.
2. Required Ownership Documents - In order to conduct business in the State of Texas, business owners must file the proper documentation with the State and/or County. As part of your Metals Registration Application, please select your business type from the list below and be prepared to upload or fax the appropriate documentation.
 - a) Sole proprietorship: If the business is conducted under an assumed name (a name other than the surname of the individual), then an assumed name certificate is necessary. If the owner conducts business under his own surname, then a letter to that affect must be submitted instead of the assumed name certificate.
 - b) General partnership: If the business of the partnership is conducted under an assumed name (a name that does not include the surname of all of the partners), then an assumed name certificate. If the partners conduct business under their own surnames, then a letter to that affect must be submitted instead of the assumed name certificate.
 - c) Corporations, Limited Liability Companies, Limited Partnerships: A copy of the certificate of formation filed with the Texas Secretary of State. (If the Corporation is filed outside the State of Texas, the Corporation must file as a Foreign Corporation with the Texas Secretary of State. Foreign Corporations must then submit a copy of the certificate of filing for this application.)
 - d) Limited Liability Partnership: A copy of the registration form filed with the Texas Secretary of State.
