STATEWIDE CURRENT SITUATION: As the residents and local jurisdictions continue to assess their damages, Texas Volunteer Agencies Active in Disaster (VOADs) are busy assisting the affected residents of the communities with food, water, cleaning supplies and any other unmet needs that are available. The State of Texas State Operations Center (SOC) along with the Texas Emergency Management Council remains at Level III (Increased Readiness) as of 1900 9/23/19 providing the needed assistance to the local jurisdictions. Governor Abbott declared a State of Disaster for Brazoria, Chambers, Galveston, Hardin, Harris, Jasper, Jefferson, Liberty, Matagorda, Montgomery, Newton, Orange and San Jacinto counties on 9/19/19.

Current Weather Situation: The Texas South Plains Region:

Early-morning water-vapor imagery depicts a well-defined short-wave trough over the southern Rockies progressing east-northeast in line with 00z model guidance. While large-scale heights are actually forecast to rise ahead of this short wave, 500mb temperatures should cool a few degrees as the trough ejects into eastern KS and de-amplifies by 29/00z. Dominant upper ridge will remain anchored over the Gulf States through the period and this will ensure the aforementioned short wave lifts decidedly poleward over the next 36hrs. Latest guidance suggests strong boundary-layer heating will be noted across the TX South Plains into extreme south-central KS by afternoon. As a result, surface readings should approach convective temperatures by 21z which times favorably with the approaching trough. As a result, scattered thunderstorms are expected to develop along the wind shift by late afternoon, especially from northern OK into western MO. Hail/wind are the primary risks with this diurnally enhanced convection.

OPERATIONAL PRIORITIES:

1. Protect life and property.
2. Support rapid & effective response.

3. Collect and disseminate accurate incident information to improve decision-making.
4. Accurately, track incident costs associated with assigned resources for cost recovery.
